

Superintendent's Staff

It is necessary to add administrators, supervisors, and directors to the Superintendent's staff from time to time to help meet the demands of the Superintendent's comprehensive and complex position. At the present time, there are organized departments for instruction, personnel, business, food services, federal programs, special education, maintenance, transportation, and athletics. Each department is organized for the purpose of serving the employees of the school system and furthering the education process.

The building principal is the first source of information for employee questions and problems, however, there will be questions and problems that should be referred to the proper department of the Superintendent's staff. The Superintendent's staff is sensitive toward the feelings and needs of employees and stands ready and willing to help whenever possible.
